Are you working to improve the health of populations at risk?

We welcome submissions covering any of the following challenges in healthcare:

1. The adverse impact of geography/distance
2. Communication issues due to cognitive deficit or mental illness
3. Life-limiting illnesses
4. Poverty, poor access and homelessness

Our quarterly editions in 2019 will include a variety of submissions:

- Case studies
- Clinical Audits
- Editorials
- Research
- Reviews
- Insights (Clinical, Design, Research, Patient)
- Infographics, short videos
- Podcast interviews

We offer a platform for healthcare providers, designers, architects and innovators to describe how they approach these issues, especially changes or improvements that can be implemented without major funding or organisational restructure to improve outcomes for people who are at risk.

Submission Deadlines

In 2019, The Journal of Health Design will publish editions in March, June, September and December. We welcome submissions for any of these editions. We recommend submitting your manuscript 3 months in advance.

Email: JHD Editor
Journal of Health Design

Call for Papers 2019: The Power of Connection

How are you connecting with patients and colleagues to improve health outcomes?

We welcome submissions about making and building connections in healthcare:

1. Helping to change behaviour for better health
2. Connecting patients to resources that offer help and support (community resources, support groups)
3. Improving how patients and healthcare providers' interact
4. Facilitating connection through communication, especially where language, culture and ethnic differences can be barriers
5. Fostering better collaboration between healthcare providers to ensure continuity of care

Our quarterly editions in 2019 will include a variety of submissions:

- Case studies
- Clinical Audits
- Editorials
- Research
- Reviews
- Insights (Clinical, Design, Research, Patient)
- Infographics, short videos
- Podcast interviews

We offer a platform for healthcare providers, designers, architects and innovators to describe how they approach these issues and especially changes or improvements that can be implemented without major funding or organisational restructure to improve outcomes.

Submission Deadlines

In 2019, The Journal of Health Design will publish editions in March, June, September and December. We welcome submissions for any of these editions. We recommend submitting your manuscript 3 months in advance.

Email: JHD Editor
Journal of Health Design